

Who we are

Growing up, this sister duo had their very own dress up box an old wardrobe chest. They loved to play make believe with their Mother's old clothes and accessories. As they got older and being told "it's always better to be over dressed than under dressed," they felt the best way to do this was to accessorize!

"It's not always about the dress you have on, but rather the accessories you pair it with. It's what completes any outfit."

They began to work with their Father who brought the vision of NJ & Company to them. Now as they expand the line into NJ's customer requests, they have been given the great challenge to come out with more creative looks!

"One of the greatest joys of working in this industry is the relationships we have developed over the years; with each other, our family, and the wonderful support from those who appreciate our products, our customers."
